Alberta Stewart Was Terribly Assaulted and immersed While Alive.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript] BOSTON, Aug. 9 .- Judge Forseith of the municipal court today filed his finding upon the inquest held in the case of Al berta Stewart, the fourteen-years-old girl, whose body was found in the Charles river two weeks ago. The court finds that the evidence given at the inquest shows she had received severe bruises on the right eye, cheek nose and lip, on the rear part of skull, behind the ear, on the arms and on both thighs, the severest of which must been received at least one half hour before her death. The court is of the opinion that a severe assault had been committed upon the girl and that she was immersed when alive. Evidence does not disclose by whom the act of violence was committed.

Bears in Bear Swamp Terrorized Last Night by a Doctor and Drug Clerk.

The bears in bear swamp will never snow the terrible peril they were in last night. They will never realize that two probably as terrible and deadly bear destroyers as ever roamed the Rocky mountains drove up from North Adams last evening with the express purpose of delivering the whole Stamford region from any further fear of bears and incidentally to secure a sufficient number of bear rugs to carnet their homes throughout and give the few they might have left over to friendly admirers of their bravery and

The names of these ursine Nimrods will be concealed from the public lest every bear hunter in New England be flocking to North Adams in order to get points on the art of bear-catching and so be an annovance to this local talent, a matter which we should regret being to blame for. His appearance alone was terrible enough to stampede a whole herd of bears, to say nothing of the drug gentleman with a double-barrel shot gun loaded with buckshot and another awful bad bear look gleaming in his eye. Poor trembling bears, had they only known!

On the way up the two swapped old stories of bears killed by them in the Alleghanies and Sierras. They also figured how they could get all the dead bruin down from the woods, and how they would have their rugs made. There is no accuracy in reporting how many bears they killed in their minds' eye going up. Arrived near bear swamp their horse was put in a barn where the bears or shooting wyuldn't frighten it. Only the distant hoot of an owl made these hunters heroically lingered for four long hours. No one will ever know how many bears they killed. They report hearing several (besides those they killed) coming their way just as they began to think it was too late and too damp to stay out longer. There was no blood or fur or scratches on either of the gentlemen when they got back this morning. They looked just as they did when they started except that the fierce look had departed from their eyes. But Stamford is undoubtedly saved! The little children, the farmer's sheep and pigs, even the berries, can dwell in Stamford now free from the peril of devouring bears! Another Terrible Crossing Accident on the Fitchburg Railroad at Johnsonville, N. Y.

MAN, BOY AND HORSE KILLED.

The Crossing a Twin to the Pownal One and the Accident Similar to the Pownal Accident. Mrs. Comisky of This Town was on the Scene.

Another horrible crossing accident took place yesterday on the Fitchburg railroad. A man and boy lost their lives by it and a iorse was killed.

In the morning early Justice H. Akin, a well-to-do farmer of Johnsonville, N. Y., started for the village in company with a boy, Arthur Hunt, and a woman, who was relative. The party were in a light wagon drawn by one horse. Young Hunt was allowed to drive. When they neared the crossing just a little this side of the station near the bridge, it is said they stopped to listen if a train was coming. They evidently satisfied them eives that there was not and drove on. Just as they got on the west bound track the engine of the passenger train due in Troy at 9.20 o'clock and which left here at 7.45 dashed into the wagon, shattering it to pieces and throwing Mr. Aiken; the boy and the horse before it on the track. The train rushed on and over some of the bodies and wreckage. The woman who was with the arty was uninjured and her screams were terrible. She was almost crazed at the sight and could not be comforted. The train was stopped as soon as possible after it had passed over the wreck and was backed up to the scene. Mrs. J. L. Comisky of this town and the two girls. who have been visiting her, were on the train. They felt the shock and the dreadful sensation that comes from the wheels passing over something yielding which is probably a human body. When the train stopped Mrs. Comisky and her two friends, who were then on their way to Greenwich, got out and would not return to the crossing. The engine presented a bloody and terrible appearance. The front of it was bespatiated with blood, flesh and entrails of the darse. Some of the matter had dashed up in the coach windows. The engine looked like an instrument of carnage. There was confuion for the time.

When the train reach the crossing it was found that Mr. Aiken had been killed outright. The boy was still alive, but died in a very short time. The horse had been dashed to death. The almost lifeless boy was picked up by the engineer, Byron Clark of Williamstown, son of Volney Clark, and was carried to a near-by house where he died. Conductor Stevens of this town was in charge of the train and he did what he could under the circum-

The crossing at which the accident happered is a twin to the Pownal crossing at which such terrible havor was made reently. The railroad crosses the high way very obliquely and the surroundings are such that it is difficult to become aware of the approach of trains. There is a sharp curve at the place and the engineer cannot see what is at the crossing until almost upon it and the train is obcured from persons on the road. There is a heavy grade reaching down to the crossing and this prevents the easy stop of a train should an accident be impend

Mr. Akin was tone of Johnsonville's most prominent residents. He was a native of the town and was born about seventy-four years ago. He had held sev eral positions of trust, and for severa terms was justice of the peace. He is survived by a widow and two sons. Assistant District Attorney Clarence E. Akin and Fred Akin, a druggist of Johnsonville. Marcus L. Akin, attorney of Troy, N. Y., is a brother of the deceased. Mr. Akin was a highly respected citizen. Arthur Hunt was ten years old and was the son of Mr and Mrs John Hunt. He was well aware of the conditions at the crossing as he had been employed around the depot-

A LANDLORD SURPRISED.

Naomi Chapter, O. E. S., Makes a Visit to Hotel Idlewild.

The local chapter order of the Eastern Star, bearing in mind the much-valued services of its Past Patron, Henry C. Savage, successfully carried out a pleasant surprise to him last night, Sixty of the members of Naomi chapter participated in the affair.

Mr. Flagg placed the party at the new Hotel Idlewild in good shape and time with his fine teams and excellent drivers. Mr. Savage was found busily engaged in his duties as landlord of the Idlewild, a venture destined to mark an era in the hotel business in this part of Berkshire

After spending a couple of hours enjoying the grounds and examining the capasions rooms, during which the orchard with its 175 fine trees was visited, the party marched into the dining room, found handsomely decorated, and partook of an elegant supper which had been pre-pared under the direction of Miss Mattie avage without her brother's knowledge. After the excellent supper, which was most enjoyable, the large room was cleared and an oak library set, chairs and tables, with some fine parlor furniture, was brought in and presented to Landlord Savage by the Worthy Patron of Naomi Chapter, Frank L. Tilton, whose well chosen words were responded to by Mr. Savage with much emotion as he accepted the boautiful presents. Afterwards Prof. Roy, who accompanied the visitors, rendered some choice selections of dancing music which occupied the attention of all until manight, at which hour the party returned to their homes, incidentally enjoying a perfect moonlight ride. The night was magnificent, Bro. Heyward's songs were charming, and the memory of Hotel Idlewild with its genial host and and hostess and its grand possibilities of entertainment will linger long with the sisters and brothers of Naomi Chapter,

Wednesday night. They had been to Monroe to visit John J. Turner, Mrs. Amadon's brother, and were returning home when the unusual occurrence happened. It was about 6.30 o'clock in the evening when they were leisurely climbing Tilda hill, a hill in the Florida road near the white schoolhouse. The horse got uneasy and snorted and showed some signs of fear. Mr. Amadon wondered and looked around for the cause. Ahead about 100 feet a large black bear came out from a thicket on one side of the road and moved over to another on the other side and disappeared. Mr. Amadon was at a loss what to do, whether to turn back or go on. Mrs. Amadon was very badly frightened. There was the probability that cubs were on the old one's trail and to go on might mean a meeting with them which might cause the old one to turn and fight. Mr. Amadon waited a few minutes and seeing no further devel opments proceeded homeward. Pine hill and surroundings have always been a fav orite haunt for bears. The farmers in that Davenport, says she heard noises between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning which led her to think somebody was about who had no legitimate business there. She went to ber window and looked down into the alley between the Davenport and Adams blocks, and there she says she saw four men trying to open a window in the rear part of Hughes' store. The girl says they had a dark lantern and talked low, and that they were frightened away once and came back again. There is nothing to show any attempt to enter the store and the chances are that the fellows prowling about were 'buffaloes" looking for a window that hey could raise without breaking.

SILVER AND THE DEMOCRACY.

If any one has any doubt as to the relative financial positions of the two great parties he should stop to reflect a moment on the conventions already held by the Democratic party in two of the great states of the Union-in Illinois and Mis-In the former state, the story of silver's triumph over Democracy has grown old. But Tuesday the Democratic state convention of Missouri met, and again silver trlumphed as did "Silver Dollar" Bland, The report of the Committee on Reso-

JUSTICE JACKSON.

Howell E. Jackson, justice of the Supreme court of the United States, died at Nashville, Tenn., yesterday afternoon, after a long and lingering illness at the age of sixty-three years. His last public duty was performed in going to Washington to sit on the income tax case, and this exhausting and trying duty very much hastened his death.

Justice Jackson was born at Paris, Tenn., April 8, 1832. He graduated at West Tennessee college in 1843, and subotly ment two years at 1 sity of Virginia. He graduated from the Camberland lawedhool? In 1856 Ke began the practice of law in Jackson, thut removed to Mentillis in 1859. When the war broke out he was appointed to a civil position under the confederate goverament, and on the return of peace resumed his law practice in Memphis, but removed to Jackson again in 1876. On two occasions he had served for brief periods as a judge of the state supreme court by appointment, and in 1878 was a promiment candidate for the Democratic nomination for a similar position. In 1880 he was elected to the Legislature from Madison county, and was always a stanch advocate of honest dealing with the creditors of the state. In January, 1881, while a member of the Legislature, he was elected to the United States Senate. President Cleveland appointed him United States circuit judge for the sixth judicial district March 3, 1887. He was appointed a Supreme court justice by President Harrison, succeeding the late Justice Lamar.

As an added proof that Senator Quay is for Senstor Cameron for president, an incident of the past week may be stated, The chairman of the republican committee in Lycoming county wrote to Mr. Quay, him, as they had been comrades in the Gov. Hastings, C. L. Magee, David Martin, Chairman Gilkeson and other leaders, asking their opinions on silver, the presidency, and whether they were for or against Senator Cameron for president. besides other questions of a minor character. Senator Quay's answer on the silver question was very direct. He said he was not in favor of the 16 to 1 ratio. As to his position in the matter of Senator Cameron's candidacy for the presidency, he did not reply directly, but said that Senstor Cameron is in New England and has Mr. Terry were members of Company not intimated his decries one way or the A, 3d Wisconsin volunteers, and had not other, and in the absence of any knowl- met before since the close of the war, edge of Senator Cameron's intentions, he although their attachment became so said he prefered not to discuss the matter. strong while in the army that they have It is generally conceded that Mr. Quay, if he secures control of the national convening years. The Christian missionaries of China are in no little danger. The missions already attacked are in the interior, where the Chinese hatred of foreigners is the most intense, and these massacres may be but the beginning of a systematic persecution of Christians and foreigners. It may be that it occurred with the connivance of the authorities. It has been suggested that this event is likely to check the progress of missions. They err who make this suggestion and do not understand the missionary spirit. The men and women who carry Christianity to heathendom anderstand something of the malignity of of the biggest an heathen fanaticism. They know that this town.

they carry their lives in their hands, but they are men and women who count not their lives dear unto themselves. They deserve the fullest protection. If China cannot give it to them, then the duty of England and the United States is plain.

Now that Vice-President Stevenson has declared that President Cleveland is not a candidate for a third term, there may be something in ex-Secretary Whitney's ambition according to the New York correspondence of the Boston Herald, Mr. Whitney is the coming man of the New York democracy. The assertion is made that Mr. Cleveland desires neither a third term nor a fourth nomination, and that he has determined to make Mr. Whitney his official legatee. All that is lacking now is the consent of the man for whom the president is preparing the star of destiny. Mr. Whitney is known to be re-Inctant, but an imperative command from Gray Gables is expected to bring him to terms. And the astounding assertion is made that Whitney and Cleveland are close friends, thus giving a refutation to the charge that they have not been on speaking terms since 1892.

Some one got very unduly scared out in Wyoming and Idaho over an Indian outbreak that never existed or of which there was any danger. The more clearly the incidents of the trouble at Jackson's Hole in Wyoming are brought to light the worse does it look for the white men who were concerned in it and for Governor Richards himself. It now appears that there was not a general massacre of the Indian prisoners, as at first reported. Only one Indian was killed outright and one other wounded, while one pappoose was lost in the flight and has not yet been found. Yet the fear of reprisals led Clovernor Richards to put the government to the great expense of a military expedition and to startle the country with stories of the massacre of settlers.

What news is news in the dull summer months. From Washington there comes a report which says that President Cleveland has been rejected by a life insurance company, which had subjected him to a physical examination, with a view to insuring his life for a large sum, and says, This rumor has caused the wildest excitement in official circles. All of the President's friends who have been seen since midnight have declared their Ignorance of the matter." This is almost as startling as the news sent out from Gray Gables a few days since that Mr. Cleveland had been stung by a hornet and the hornet was yet at large.

platform. It was in the presented of a company the state of the bomicides, in nine cases out of ten occur simply because. a man has a pistol or a knife about him. If the weapon were not ready at hand, there would be no killing. Suppress the pistols, and every man would be safe from assault himself, and would also be less liable to do harm to others. It is only in uncivilized countries that men need to go armed. Massachusetts is reasonably well civilized by this time, and pistols and knives ought to be suppressed.

> The new law governing the inspection of bollers is now in effect, and if its prolife and danger to property from boiler explosions will be reduced to a minimum. Under the most stringent of laws it is not reasonable to expect the entire chimin vtion of such accidents from the year's chronology, for carclessness will at times assert itself, and then again, there will intrude defects in the iron that no precaution seems able to guard against Nevertheless, the new law is something that will no doubt make explosions much less frequent.

September 24 and 25 were fixed upon by the Republican state executive committee. Wednesday as the days for caucuses to convention in the 6th district. Upon either of these dates also representative canonses may be held, should the representative committees so decide. Should the latter, however, prefer holding separate caucuses for the choice of delegates to representatives conventions or to nominate representative, this set of caucuses must be held either October 8 or 9.

THE MIKADO'S REALM

COLONEL COCKERILL WRITES OF FREE THOUGHT IN JAPAN.

The "Senship Sakuin" of Tokyo—Founded by Americans - Christians, Buddhists, Shintoists and Confucianists Working Together In Unity.

There is in Tokyo, the capital of the Japanese empire, an institution unique and remarkable. It is the "Senshun Sakuin,'' or School For Advanced Learning. It is part of the work of the American Unitarian association in Japan, and its chief support and inspiration come, it is hardly necessary to say, from Boston. This school was established four vears ago.

At the head of the Senshin Sakuin stands Mr. Clay MacCauley, president and founder, whose published essay on "The Religious Problem In Japan; How Solve It?" has been widely read and quoted. His school has so far had more than 40 students, who have devoted themselves to scientific and philosophical study of religion, ethics and govial science. The method is perfectly free inquiry, no prejudice being manifested toward any existing religion. It is the only school of the kind in Japan, and there are few like it in the world. The faculty is composed of seven members, and the examinations are rigid. There are no textbooks, all teaching being through lectures and essays. There are Christians, Buddhists, Shintoists and Confucianists by education and association in the faculty, but all have the same object in view—search for the truth wherever it may be found. Mr. MacCauley is a Christian, but he interprets Christianity as large enough to include the abject.

The building in which the school is maintained is called Yniitsukwan(Unity hall). Its value, with the grounds, is 22,000 yen. It was built out of the subscriptions of the American Unitarian association. The Japan mission of the American Unitarian association has a publication department and church extension department, besides Mr. Mac-Cauley's Free Thought school. Under these auspices pamphlots and books are printed and sent out, designed to further the study of religious ethics and social science, and a monthly magazine called Shukyo (Religion) is published, which is an open arena for thinkers, doaling with themes concerning the higher life of the Japanese people. This magazine has been in existence about four years, and it is a decided formative force in the literature of Japan. Its list of contributors contains some of the ablest and thost advanced thinkers in Japan, native and foreign.

agement and mild support of liberal religious movements originating and developing among the Japanese. It does not build churches, impose creeds or pay salaries to preachers. It does not import church organizations from the United States or reproduce foreign cults. It waits for and belps along native effort which is honestly directed toward gaining the highest truth and securing the best life in religion and in morals. The Japan Unitarian mission is in constant correspondence with associations and individuals throughout the consire who are known to be affected by the leading religious and ethical influences of the age. In this direction the Unitarian mission has a very important reason for being. Its influence for good in this direction is indeed great. It is the only organization of the kind in Japan and is worthy of the generous support of all who recognize truth and sound morals as the basis of true religion.

That is the main reason for its existence and a valid reason for the work it is doing. ' A student in Dr. MacCauley's school is afforded an opportunity to know and study every known creed. He is left to judge as to the faith he requires. No question of orthodoxy is raised. He will find good in all. With crystallized (rath in his hand he selects or rejects. He has all that has been revealed-all that the anxious, inquiring world knows of things mysterious and divine. -John A. Cockerill in New York Herald.

Defuelizing Wood. "Defaction" is a new word added-to the language, told in a story by Senator Palmer about an Illinois farmer who for several years had been selling him wood for $6 a cord. "This year," says Senutor Palmer, "he came to me with a load, a.d I told him that I did not want it. He offered it at $2 a cord. I still refused, and he wanted to know why I would not take it at $2. I told him I was using soft coal, for which I paid $1.87 a ton. "Gosh!" he exclaimed. "I heard you was trying to demone tize silver, but now you're trying to defublize wood. "-New York Tribune.

Is Mark Twain at It Again? One of the reports which are heard in literary circles is that Mark Twain has either been asked to write or is considering an idea of his own which may give us, as a result of his lecturing trip around the world, a new volume, not at all imitative of the "Innocents Abroad," perhaps suggestive of it. How much of truth is in this report it is impossible to learn, since Mr. Clemens keeps his own counsel.-Holland in Philadelphia

New Evebrows. We learn from French sources that London perfumer has found a new way of fixing up eyelashes and eyebrows. Instead of painting them in the usual vulgar old style, he puts the genuine article there, and professional and amateur beauties of the great city are flocking to h m to be made just too lovely for anything. The operation is said to be extremely delicate, though by no means painful. He takes a hair from the head of the beauty, or, if she does not like precisely the color of her own hair, he takes one of any other color that she likes, threads an extremely fine needle with the hair, rurs it along inside the skin of the eyelid, sewing builmaker's fashion, but leading the looms sufficiently long to enable him to cut them afterward, so that they will form a range of beautiful fringe and look perfectly natural. For eyebrows operation is, of course, less delicate.

Arched eyebrows, bushy eyebrows, straight cycbrows, crooked cycbrows, all sort of eyebrows, in any color or shade or form, this wonderful perfumer makes for the ladies of London, and it is said that his success is something astonishing.

What Ruskin Might Have Been. In some reminiscences of Mr. Ruskin a contributor to The Young Man describes a visit he paid to Brantwood a few years ago. "If I had followed the true bent of my mind," said Mr. Ruskin to his visitor, "I should have been a civil engineer. I should have found more pleasure in planning bridges and sea breakwaters than in prais-ing modern painters." And with a sigh adds the writer, whether in carnest or in fun I could not say, for it was a most diffibuilt matter at times to tell whether he was serious-he said, 'Whether literature and art have been helped by me I know not, but this I do know—that England has lost in me a second Telford."—Westminster Gazette.

Electric Bitters. Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. ADAMS.

Probably Burglars,

Two men, probably burglars, alarmed the household of Henry Brock's summer residence, Buena, Vista, Tuesday night. About 9 o'clock on that evening, Mrs. Brock heard a noise as of something striking the steps and from that time until II, two men were prowling around the house. At the latter hour the men openly moved about and being seen by Mrs. Brock, she at once telephoned to whose money will back the big Adams are attracted by the boom which we are those workstamp, which we are those which we are tho having. They are looking for chances to molest the out of the way places, unprotected by police, and people should in consequence take extra precautions.

Mr. Burlingame's Funeral. The late Daniel F. Burlingame's funeral occurred at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the Burlingame farm. It was well attended by many friends who knew Mr-Burlingame and revered his memory. The pall bearers were Frank E. Mole. Daniel Burt, John Richmond, John Bowen, Henry J. Arnold and W. B.

A Bad Drubbing.

The Pittsfield rooters must have been in glory yesterday afternoon when the Stanleys had so much fun with the Renfrews, the baseball representatives of Adams. The beating was to the ture of 19 to 1 and all the Renfrews can do is to congratulate themselves it was not worse. For poor ball playing, as one of the spectators said, "the Renfrews certainly own the flour mill." There was only one man on the mill." There was only one man on the team who showed that he knew anything about the national game, and that was Joe Raidy, who played the position of third base for the first time during his short baseball career. Joe is a good player and showed it, while some of the other men, supposed to, be well up in the art; played like liftle children who never heard of baseball. Granon pitched well until he became heartily discouraged at the uncommonificator timber behind him. Manager Fern' says he will remodel the team, and yesterday's game certainly shows need of it.

County Covention, Concert and Dance. On two weeks from today the county convention of Father Mathew societies will be held here and on that evening a concert and dance will be held at the opera house. Gero's orchestra will furnish music and Joseph Doherty of North Adams will prompt.

John T. Hughes_‡ John T. Hughes died at his home near Bowen's corners about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoop, of rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Hughes was born in Oldham, Eng., May 28, 1863, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hughes. He resided there until he was six years of age, when his parents moved to this country. For a few years they resided in other places but twenty years ago moved to this town. Mr. Hughes was a quiet, well bred young man, whose most interest was in the home. He was sick for years but only for a few days has been in a daugerous con-dition. The funeral will be held from St. Charles' church at 2 o'clock Sunday after-

A requiem mass will be celebrated for nim at 8.30 o'clock Monday morning.

Miss Margaret Orr.

Miss Margaret Orr, 65 years of age, died at the hospital in North Adams yesterday morning. On Tuesday she submitted to the removal of a large tumor and did Mr. Wheeler, agent for the Gamwell to the removal of a large tumor and did not recover from the effects. She was a Fire Alarm company of Boston was in sister of James and William Orr, both of whom are in Europe. She was born in ground and considering the places for Scotland and had lived is this country stations. The work will be done right many years. The funeral will occur at 2 | away. clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Dr. Zahner of St. Louis officiating.

A candy store will be opened in the store adjoining M. C. Richmond's block. M. J. Holden & Son's new lumber sheds, off Dean street are almost finished. A real estate transfer has been made by Elvin J. Crandall of Savoy to B. Kemp of the same town. H. Harrison Hanley of North Adams recently made a deal with the Hoosac Savings bank of the same city, for local real estate.

Under the new regime Division 3, A. O. H., will hold their semi-monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

A strange coincidence is brought up in connection with the late Daniel F. Burlingame, and the late Judge Bliss. Both men were radical democrats and on the the day of the fall election in 1892 they came down town to vote. They voted their straight party tickets and went home. On the way home, Mr. Burlingame was thrown from his team and severely injured. Judge Bliss fell ill and died the next day. It seemed curious that both men, who were closely associated through their whole lives should be fated to misfortune on a day, whereon both placed so much importance.

HE LASSUED AND.

The Skill Displayed By a Boy on State

A boy somewhat expert in the use of the lasso got out into the middle of State street the night before last and dis tinguished himself. He was swinging his rope around not attracted to any special game it appeared when a lone team with a lone driver came along. The mischievous spirit of the boy immediately asserted itself. He swung his lasso vigorously around his head several times and threw it at the head of the passing driver. The loop descended and tightened and the man was caught. The boy instantly let go the rope or the man would have left his seat. The team was stopped and vengeance was in the man's eye. The spectators on the sidewalks burst into anplause and the man whipped up his horse. The boy needs another rope.

Hwasang Massacre Not the Result of a Sudden Outburst of Fury.

Vogetarians Declared Their Intentions Beforehand.

Prompt Action Necessary to Prevent a Series

o! Further Riots.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.-A special from Foo-Chow to The World says: The evidence already obtained shows that the mussacre at Hwasang was planned at least a week beforehand. The foreign consuls have the names of the leaders in it and some of the participants. An official of Foo-Chow sent 210 soldiers into that section on July 24, to prevent the Vegetarians from mardering

The Vegetarians thought the mission aries had caused the troops to be sent, and decided to kill them. They began immediately to gather at a certain designated place. In passing through the villages on their way to the rendezvous the Veg-etarians publicly declared their intention to destroy the churches and to kill the Christians.
The local officials knew of this, but tley did nothing to protect or even to warn the foreigners. The night before the massacre, a native paster in the city of Ku-Cheng heard the Vegetarians were go ing to kill the foreigners on the morrow He wrote a letter of warning to Mr. Stewart at Hwa-ang, but delayed sending it until daylight. The messenger arrived half an hour too late. Dr. Gregory was it the city of Ku-Cheng at the time, but he was not notified. The foreigners had no suspicion of the intended slaughter.

Story of One of the Victims. The statement of Miss Mabel C H. Hartford, the only American at Hwasang at the time of the massacre, is as follows Aug. 1, at 7.30 a m., I heard shouts. They were the yells of servants, who rushed in shouting to me to get up, for the Vege-tarians were coming, tearing down the houses on the hill belonging to the English mission. "A few minutes later a teacher came to my door and told me to run. I put on my clothes and rushed to the door. I was met by a man with a trident spear, who yelled. Here is a foreign woman. He pointed the spear at my chest. I twisted it to one side, and it just grazed my car and head. He threw me to the ground and beat me with the wooden end of the spear. A servant came and wrenched the spear away, and I ran along the road All this time the yells went on, and two houses were burning to the ground.

"After a while the yells stopped. I went home to find Miss Codrington much cut about the head and beaten all over; Mildred Stevart, 12 yeurs of "age, the knee cut, and bleeding" very "ha d." Trother Schwart, 5 years of age, cut in the the thind, and almost dead; Buby Stewart, with one eye black and swollen; the second Stewart gurl, Kathleen, H years of age, with the second boy, Evan, 3 years of age, were beaten and pierced with a spear, but not seriously in ured

"Mr. Phillips of the English mission, who hved some distance away, escaped all initiries, only arriving in time to see the bodies of the dead and hear the Vege tarians say: 'We have killed all the foreigners.'

The Dead.

"Mr Philips went to the runs and found mine bodies, five not burned and four burned so as not to be recognizable -R J. Stewart and his wife, a nurse from Ireland called Lena, Nellie Saunders and Topsy Saunders of Australia, Hessie New combe of Ireland, Kisic Marshall Lucy Stewart of England, and Annie Gor don of Australia The first four were burned beyond recognition Topsy ran out of the house and was killed outside. Hossie was thrown down the embankment, with her head nearly severed from her shoulders. Hannah Gordon's head was also nearly cut off. Her-"Uorig, the Ku-Cheng magistrate came to Hwasang Friday afternoon, Aug. 2, with 100 soldiers. He viewed the bodies, saw the injured, inquired the primes of all the places of the injured and made ou an account He did what he could to help us to get off to Suikow." Another Mission Cone. A mob has just looted the American mission chapel at Inghok, 50 miles from Foo-Chow. Unless prompt, effective action is taken, there is danger of great riots

Justice Jackson Dies of Consumption

Had Long Been a Sufferer From the Disease.

In His Tennessee Home.

Secretary Carlisle May Now Be Promoted to the Supreme Bench.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 9 .- Howell E. Jackson died at 2 p. m. yesterday at his residence at West Meade, aged 63. He was affected with a complication of diseases which it was impossible to fight off.
Nevertheless, he did not take to his bed until eight days ago. After that his family and friends roalized that the end was near.

Howell Edmunds Jackson was born in Paris, Tenu., April 8, 1832, so that he was in his 63d year at the time of his death. Justice Jackson was a classical scholar, graduating from the West Tennessee col-These are not old, shop-worn or

Totten and Milton Brown; graduated from the Lebanon law school in 1856, in which year he located in Jackson and engaged in the practice of his profession; re-moved to Memphis in 1859, where he continued the practice of law, served on the supreme bench by appointment on two occasions, and was once a prominent candidate for supreme judge before the nom-inating convention; relocated in Jackson was elected to the state house of representatives in 1880 on the state credit platform; was elected to the United States senate as a Democrat in 1881, and served till April 12, 1886; was appointed United States circuit judge by President Cleveland and nominated for associate justice by President Hatrison, was con-firmed by the senate Feb. 18, 1893, and entered upon the duties of the office March

HETICE JACKSON When Justice Jackson, was so, sarioguly sick this spring that he was not expected to recover, the name of his successor was considerably speculated on. The idea was suggested by some that the president would again name Messrs. Peckham or Hornblower of New York, while the selection of a man from the west fell to Don Dickinson. Pestmaster General Wilson was strongly spoken of as among the pos-gibilities, while the majority of opinion was that Secretary Carlisle could have the was that Servedry Carlisle could have the place if he wanted it. Mr. Carlisle would be especially eligible, as he would be appointed from the same district that the death of Justice Jackson has made vacant. The last time Judge Jackson was in Washington was on the occasion of the This can only be secured by the use of good Fruit

He had been absent from the city and from the bench since the preceding fall, when, soon after the convening of the October term of the court, he had been absent from the city and from the bench since the preceding fall, when, soon after the convening of the October term of the court, he had been absent from the court, he had been absent from the city and from the court, he had been absent from the city and from the court, he had been absent from the city and from the court, he had been absent from the city and from the city a compelled to go south on account of his rapidly declining health. During his ab-sence there had been contradictory reports as to his physical condition. Mr. Jackson had the reputation in Washington, and especially around the supreme court, of being very sensitive concerning any discussion of his health in the public press, and he referred to the subject very sparingly in his own conversations. The other mentions of the course we as the poorly advised as to his condition. This state of affairs is said to have been the reason for the equivocal character of the announcement of the decision to grant a chearing in the income tax cases, which of necessity Depended Upon Mr. Jackson's Presence He was in Washington, on the occasion of the rehearing, for several days, and gave his attention assiduously to the income tax cases. He sat through the argument, which continued for three days, took part in the consultation of the court, and when the day arrived for the announcement of the decision, not only listened patiently to the opinions of most of the other members of the court, but delivered a vigorous opinion of his own in support of the validity of the law. This occurred on May 20, and was his last public appearance. He re-turned to his home in Tennessee late in Men Judge Jackson was last in Washington it was evident to all who came in contact with him that life was slowly but surely ebbing away, and that the effort he made in performing his duties in the income tax emergency was made at the expense of his vitality.

As senator and justice of the supremo court, Mr. Jackson had resided in Washington about eight years. His associates here were confined largely to his colleagues on the bench and in the senate chamber. By them he was universally esteemed as a man of high moral worth and rich intellectual attainments, as was evinced in nothing so much as in his appointment to the supreme court bench by President Harrison and his confirmation by a Republican senate. Judgo Jackson was twice married, the first time to Miss Sophia Malloy, daughter of David B. Malloy, a banker of Memphis, who died in 1878. Of this union were born four children, as follows: Henry, Mary, four children, as follows: Henry, Mary, William H. and Howell Jackson.

In 1876 Judge Jackson married Miss Mary E. Harding, daughter of General William Harding. Of this union three children survive: The Missos Elizabeth and Louise Jackson, and Harding A. Jackson. With the exception of Miss Elizabeth and William H. Ir. who are Elizabeth and William H., Jr., who are now in Europe, the children were at the bedside when the sufferer passed away.

Haverhill Man Has Two Wives Who Are Causing Him Much Trouble. HAVERHILL, Mass., Aug. 9 .- Tuesday

Amos J. Lafoe published a notice in a local paper to the effect that his wife, Mary, had left his bed and board, and, in consequence, he would pay no bills of her Yesterday Julia A. H. Lafoe, living in the western part of the city, appeared and declared that Amos Lafoe is her husband, and that he had never been divorced.

Lafoe admits the truth of the statement and says his first wife knew of his second marriage, but promised to make no trouble for him.

He left Julia in 1890, after having a troublesome married career of 10 years, and a year later he married Mary Fisher. He has lived in this city all the time, and some of the time near his first wife.

The second wife was a New Hampshire girl, and they were married in that state. He had lived peaceably with her until the present time, but of late trouble had en-sued. He did not like the female friends of his wife, and wanted her to keep away from them. This she refused to do, and she left him. Lafoe will claim ignorance of the law, but Mrs. Lafoe No. 1 will push

Grand Wolcome Assurad.

Bosrox, Aug. 9.-When the Christian Endcavorers came to Boston in July they saw on every hand evidence that they were welcome. Even so will the Knights Templar be welcomed with equal cordiality, and with equal profusion will the colors of Masonry be displayed. The blue, white and red, together with the gold and purple, and black and white, will meet the eye on every hand. The Knights will doubtless be glad that they came. Boston's hospitality can be shown at any time, and no less sincere will be her greeting to the Sir Knights than to the Endeavorers. On every hand is already being planned the method of silently expressing welcome in glowing colors in bunting by day and electricity by night.

Three Killed.

PLYMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 9.—The "Cannon Ball," in charge of Conductor Bennett, collided with a special freight, which had started from Concord, head-on, at what is known as the "fill," Plymouth. Engineer Stevens and Fireman Merrill of the "Cannon Ball" and Fireman Glines of the freight jumped to the right, and were caught under the locomotive and killed Engineer Moses of Concord and Pilot Coburn of the freight jumped to the left, and escaped with a severe shaking up and other slight injuries. Arthur Austin, a brakeman on the freight, was badly injured. It is the general opinion that the wreck was caused by the negligence of the freight train crew.
